MIST COOLING SYSTEM

It is an innovative technology to decrease the out door temperature and humidity with High Pressure Mist Pump that produces 5-10 micron water droplet in the out door area

- High Pressure Pump which can be work up to 100 Bar Pressure with 1450 PSI
- HDPE flexible pipes/ SS Pipes
- Misting Nozzles and Fittings

The misting nozzles converts the ordinary water in to billions of micron –sized water particles. When our pump is operating with a pressure of 1000PSI or higher, the misting nozzle generates 5-10 micron sized water droplets which flash evaporates when floating in the air. Since rapid evaporation is taking place and residence time, ie. time required to evaporate the water particles in the air is kept to minimum , the temperature of the particular area drops immediately. In a simple way, the micron –sized water droplet absorbs the heat in the air very fast so that the temperature will be decreased immediately
